

Health Savings Accounts 2020

A Health Savings Account, or HSA, can be a valuable tool to help you save money for medical expenses for you and your family. An HSA is a tax-exempt account established specifically for the purpose of paying qualified medical expenses. Most people who are covered under an IRS qualified High-Deductible Health Plan (HDHP) can open and contribute to an HSA.

HSA Advantages

TAX DEDUCTIBLE CONTRIBUTIONS AND DISTRIBUTIONS

The money you deposit into your HSA will reduce your taxable income for the year, even if you don't itemize your taxes. If you make deposits to the account, the money can be 100% tax deductible, up to the IRS maximum. Withdrawals made for qualified medical expenses are tax-free. A complete list of qualified medical expenses is available through the Internal Revenue Service at www.irs.gov.

UNUSED CONTRIBUTIONS ROLLOVER

Another advantage is that you are not obligated to use the money you contribute to your HSA each calendar year. The money can remain in the account and earn interest until you need it – whether that's next month or in 10 years. At the age of 65, the account can be used as retirement savings or continue to be used for medical expenses, you decide.

HEALTH SAVINGS CUSTODIAL ACCOUNT AGREEMENT

The account owner named above is establishing this Health Savings Account (HSA) under section 223(a) of the Internal Revenue Code (IRC) exclusively for the purpose of paying or reimbursing qualified medical expenses of the account owner, his or her spouse, and dependents. The account owner represents that, unless this account is used solely to make rollover contributions, he or she is eligible to contribute to this HSA; specifically, that he or she: (1) is covered under a high deductible health plan (HDHP); (2) is not also covered by any other health plan that is not an HDHP (with certain exceptions for plans providing preventive care and limited types of permitted insurance and permitted coverage); (3) is not enrolled in Medicare; and (4) cannot be claimed as a dependent on another person's tax return.

The account owner and that custodian make the following agreement:

Article I

The custodian will accept additional cash contributions for the tax year made by the account owner or on behalf of the account owner (by an employer, family member or any other person). No contributions will be accepted by the custodian for any account owner that exceeds the maximum amount for family coverage plus the catch-up contribution.

Contributions for any tax year may be made at any time before the deadline for filing the account owner's federal income tax return for that year (without extensions).

Rollover contributions from an HSA or an Archer Medical Savings Account (Archer MSA) (unless prohibited under this agreement) need not be in cash and are not subject to the maximum annual contribution limit set forth in Article II.

Qualified HSA distributions from a health flexible spending arrangement or health reimbursement arrangement must be completed in a trustee-to-trustee transfer and are not subject to the maximum annual contribution limit set forth in Article II.

Qualified HSA funding distributions from an individual retirement account must be completed in a trustee-to-trustee transfer and are subject to the maximum annual contribution limit set forth in Article II.

Article II

For calendar year 2020, the maximum annual contribution limit for an account owner with single coverage is $3,550. For calendar year 2020, the maximum annual contribution limit for an account owner with family coverage is $7,100. These limits are subject to cost-of-living adjustments after 2020.

Contributions to Archer MSAs or other HSAs count toward the maximum annual contribution limit to this HSA.

For calendar year 2020, an additional $1000 may be made for an account owner who is at least age 55 or older and not enrolled in Medicare.

Contributions in excess of the maximum annual contribution limit are subject to an excise tax. However, the catch-up contributions are not subject to an excise tax.

Article III

It is the responsibility of the account owner to determine whether contributions to this HSA have exceeded the maximum annual contribution limit described in Article II. If contributions to this HSA exceed the maximum annual contribution limit, the account owner shall notify the custodian that there exists an excess contribution to this HSA. It is the responsibility of the account owner to request the withdrawal of the excess contribution and any net income attributable to such excess contribution.

Article IV

The account owner's interest in the balance in this custodial account is nonforfeitable.

Article V

No part of the custodial funds in this account may be invested in life insurance contracts or in collectibles as defined in IRC section 408(m).

The assets of this account may not be commingled with other property except in a common trust fund or common investment fund.

Neither the account owner nor the custodian will engage in any prohibited transaction with respect to this account (such as borrowing or pledging the account or engaging in any other prohibited transaction as defined in IRC section 4975).

Article VI

Distributions of funds from this HSA may be made upon the direction of the account owner.

Distributions from this HSA that are used exclusively to pay or reimburse qualified medical expenses of the account owner, his or her spouse, or dependents are tax-free. However, distributions that are not used for qualified medical expenses are included in the account owner's gross income and are subject to an additional 20 percent tax on that amount. The additional 20 percent tax does not apply if the distribution is made after the account owner's death, disability, or reaching age 65.

The custodian is not required to determine whether the distribution is for the payment or reimbursement of qualified medical expenses. Only the account owner is responsible for substantiating that the distribution is for qualified medical expenses and must maintain records sufficient to show, if required, that the distribution is tax-free.

Article VII

If the account owner dies before the entire interest in the account is distributed, the entire account will be disposed of as follows:

1. If the beneficiary is the account owner's spouse, the HSA will become the spouse's HSA as of the date of death.
2. If the beneficiary is not the account owner's spouse, the HSA will cease to be an HSA as of the date of death. If the beneficiary is the account owner's estate, the fair market value of the account as of the date of death is taxable on the account owner's final return. For other beneficiaries, the fair market value of the account is taxable to that person in the tax year that includes such date.

Article VIII

The account owner agrees to provide the custodian with information necessary for the custodian to prepare any report or return required by the IRS.

The custodian agrees to prepare and submit any report or return as prescribed by the IRS.

Article IX

Notwithstanding any other article that may be added or incorporated in this agreement, the provisions of Articles I through VIII and this sentence are controlling. Any additional article in this agreement that is inconsistent with section 223 or IRS published guidance will be void.

Article X

This agreement will be amended from time to time to comply with the provisions of the Code or IRS published guidance. Other amendments may be made with the consent of the person whose signatures appear.

Article XI

The custodian may not pay any checks or items on an HSA account that would draw the account into a negative balance. As a result, the custodian reserves the right to close any account or debit card that would cause this to occur on an ongoing basis.
