A LETTER FROM THE MAYOR...

The year 2001 will perhaps always be remembered as a quiet, innocent time before the tragic events of September 11. While City government continues to provide the necessary services of street maintenance, water, sewer, police and fire protection, those essential services suddenly take on new meaning in a very changed world. Our first priority as a City will continue to be providing these essential services and for the safety of our residents.

This year we welcomed three new members to City Council with the addition of Harry Butler, Dennis Kirtland and Bill McCurry. We also added a new Police Chief, Greg Morrison, and a new Community Development Director, Bob Blanchard.

This year saw the completion of some long-term projects such as the 25 Road renovation, and the start of other significant projects such as the Two Rivers Convention Center renovation. We will continue to work together as a City Council to plan a better future for our community.

*Sincerely,
Cindy Enos-Martinez, Mayor*

YEAR 2001 HIGHLIGHTS ...

In April, City voters elected three new City Council members, and re-elected incumbent Cindy Enos-Martinez. Harry Butler, Bill McCurry and Dennis Kirtland joined Janet Terry, Reford Theobald and Jim Spehar on Council. City Council then appointed Cindy Enos-Martinez as their new Mayor.

In addition, in April voters rejected a ballot issue to eliminate the Tabor revenue restrictions. City taxpayers voted to have revenues above the Tabor limits refunded rather than use them for specific projects. For the second time in several years, voters also rejected a plan to sell part of Lilac Park, which remains as a greenbelt into the City.

A shared vision for the Grand Valley's future was born out of Valley Vision 20/20, a broad-based effort to produce a common unified vision of what the Grand Valley community can become. The Chamber of Commerce, City, County, Fruita, Palisade, School District and Mesa College sponsored this visioning project.

No discussion of the year 2001 would be complete without touching on the issues raised by the American Civil Liberties Union regarding the Ten Commandments monument on City property. In April, the ACLU sued the City on behalf of several local residents, asking that the monument be removed. In 1958, the Fraternal Order of Eagles donated the monument to the City and it has been on City property since that time.

The City then designed and built the Cornerstones of Law and Liberty, placing the Ten Commandments among these monuments.

This plaza, dedicated in October, places the Ten Commandments in an historical context as one of the bases of our current system of laws, along with the Magna Carta, the Mayflower Compact, the Declaration of Independence, the Preamble to the U.S. Constitution and the Bill of Rights. The case will be argued in District Court in 2002.

Monsoon rains in July highlighted a long-standing need for infrastructure improvements to the combined storm and sanitary sewer system in several older neighborhoods in Grand Junction. Flooding and sewer back-ups in several residences prompted a City Council discussion on ways to move forward more quickly on separating those combined sewers.

At press time, the City was considering a plan to finance these improvements with low interest bonds available through the Colorado Water Resources and Power Development Authority. Transportation issues continued to be a main topic of discussion for many City residents, City planners, public works staff and City Council. The City continues to grow at a steady two percent each year, with housing starts and commercial development leading the way. This development brings more trucks and cars onto our roadway system.

Several major transportation studies were underway in 2001 to plan for this growth. The Colorado River Transportation Corridor Study looks at ways to move traffic from the Mesa Mall area to Orchard Mesa. This study is looking at a corridor that would bypass the First and Grand intersection using a new route along the railroad tracks near the Riverside neighborhood. The Highway 340 Transportation study identifies needed safety improvements along that busy corridor.

25 Road from Highway 6 & 50 to Patterson was completely rebuilt and reopened in August. This two-year project added storm drains, a middle turn lane, and curb, gutter and sidewalk. 25 Road improvements came just in time for the approval of the Grand Mesa Center, a 28-acre, $25 million shopping center with access from both Highway 6 & 50 and 25 Road. This shopping center will add 200,000 feet of commercial retail space, and will include several restaurant sites.

In June 2001, work began on a ten-year project to improve the 29 Road corridor. At completion, 29 Road will eventually stretch from Orchard Mesa, over the Colorado River and north to Interstate 70. The city will widen 29 Road between North Avenue and the I-70 Business Loop to five lanes. In 2002 and 2003, Mesa County will build 29 Road from U.S. Highway 50 to Unaweep Avenue, and will build a bridge over the Colorado River by 2006. In 2009, a bridge over the railroad tracks will be completed.

WHAT'S AHEAD FOR 2002...

Storm Drainage

Why does the City have combined storm and sanitary sewers? In many older parts of the City, the same pipes that carry sewage to the Persigo Wastewater Treatment Plant also fill with storm water during a heavy rainstorm. When these systems were installed, it was standard practice for cities to have combined sewers. As the City grows, more streets, pavement and parking lots mean there are fewer open fields to allow rain to soak into the ground during a storm. The storm water overwhelms the system, and sewage back ups can occur. As the City rebuilds roads such as First Street, 12th Street and 25 Road, we install separate storm drains to handle this water. There is still a backlog of combined sewers in older parts of the City. The City Council recently agreed to speed up the replacement of these sewers, including borrowing money at low interest rates.

■ The Colorado River is designated as critical habitat for endangered fish species. The City's Industrial Pretreatment Program insures that sewage from industry, grease from restaurants, and septage from homes do not adversely affect aquatic life or recreation in the Colorado River.

■ In 1909 the City created a Department of Health and Civic Beauty to insure that garbage was picked up and grease traps were cleaned twice each year. A doctor and police officers were assigned to enforce the health ordinances.

PARKS

The newest addition to the Parks system is Eagle Rim Park, shown here. The park is located on the southern bluff overlooking the Colorado River, with a gorgeous view of the Bookcliffs, Colorado National Monument and the Grand Mesa. It features a skate park, playgrounds, and picnic shelters.

Improvements to Canyon View Park continue, as new restrooms and bleachers were added to the baseball fields at the park in 2001. In 2002, Canyon View will be completed with the addition of three new tennis courts. Suplizio Field in Lincoln Park received a facelift this year with a new brick entryway and new outfield completed in time for the Junior College World Series of Baseball.

SPRING CLEAN UP

Each spring, City residents are urged to clean up their yards, basements and garages. The City helps homeowners dispose of all the excess yard waste and trash with their annual Spring Clean Up. Residents can leave their trash at the curbside during the designated week, and City crews take it to the landfill.

This program is available to City residents only (no businesses). The program will change slightly this year. We have eliminated alley pick-ups. All items will need to be placed in the gutter in front of your house. Do not place items on grass or landscaped areas, or close to buildings or fences, as the machinery used to pick it up could cause damage. Keep all debris separate from your household trash containers so it will not interrupt your regular trash pick-up.

Each household is limited to eight discarded passenger car tires. We will not pick up truck tires this year. If a residence has over 10 cubic yards of debris, there will be a charge of $75 for each truckload hauled over the limit. Arrangements for excess trash and tires must be made before the program starts by calling 244-1575.

Household hazardous waste will not be picked up during the Spring Clean Up program. We will not pick up sealed containers, vessels containing a liquid, batteries, fuel tanks of any kind, gas or air cylinders, refrigerated appliances, refrigerated air conditioners or tree limbs longer than 10 feet.

COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT . . .

The Community Development department has a new Director. Bob Blanchard began his position in June of 2001. One of his goals is to review the entire development review process. "I want to assess the current process to see if any changes are needed," said Blanchard.

Development is proceeding at a brisk pace, and has shown few signs of slowing down, even as the national economy slowed in the fourth quarter of 2001. It has been five years since the adoption of the Joint City/County Growth Plan. The plan will be updated in 2002 with the help of public input. Data gathering began at the end of 2001, and the update is expected to take about six months.

Other Community Development projects for this year include some amendments to the Zoning and Development Code and a proposal for a downtown historic preservation survey. Several neighborhood plans need updating, including the Redlands Neighborhood Plan, and a South Downtown/El Poso/Riverside Neighborhood Plan. Blanchard also is proposing some design guideline overlays for new development and public projects on the Seventh, Twelfth, and Patterson Road corridors.

TWO RIVERS CONVENTION CENTER

Here are some of the improvements:

*Meeting room space was doubled
Kitchen area was enlarged and rebuilt
Restrooms were rebuilt and enlarged
New vestibule/entry area Elevator
New office area
Additional parking*

Visitors to the center are greeted by a completely revised entryway, featuring a large decorative wall that leads to the entry doors on both the north and south sides.

This space, including new facility offices, was constructed on top of the existing plaza slab. A dramatic circular glass block form that draws eastern light into the lobby anchors the front entry. Upon entering the new lobby, visitors can proceed to the remodeled concourse serving the exhibit hall or into a smaller lobby/hallway that serves the new meeting room complex.

Two Rivers Convention Center renovations are complete, and residents will see an expanded, more modern facility and parking area. Sink Combs Dethiefs, Architects, and Shaw Construction, general contractor, have expanded and improved on the original 1970's era building.

Before making changes to the building, the City held focus groups to get ideas and input from the groups that use the building, elected officials, staff and the public.

The new meeting room area has moveable partitions that can create up to six separate rooms that total 4,500 square feet of space. The two larger rooms will seat up to 80 people each. The other four rooms are used for smaller meetings and dinners, seating up to 30 people each. When completely open the new area can seat 300 people banquet-style.

New larger restrooms were added between the new meeting rooms and the existing concourse. Sections of each restroom can be opened or closed off to service the meeting rooms and/or exhibit hall functions separately or together. The kitchen was expanded to 4,400 square feet and received some much-needed new equipment as well as a new concession/bar opening into the concourse.

The exterior site plan features the City's second roundabout, located at Second Street and Colorado. Colorado Avenue was closed from First Street to Second Street and Second Street was closed from Main to Colorado. This creates new vehicle access to the Convention Center and provides more parking in the block to the south of the building. This area has become an outdoor exhibit area and pedestrian plaza.

The Commission on Arts and Culture and the City Council have selected a monumental stainless steel sculpture and water feature to grace the entrance to the building. The piece is funded through the City's 1% for the Arts program. Colorado Springs artist Ivan Kosta is creating the sculpture.

The sculpture features two interlocked broken steel circles approximately ten feet in diameter, echoing the confluence of the rivers for which the building is named. Streams of water flow from the top of the circles down 'strings' on thin steel rods. The sculpture will be built by the artist in his studio over the winter and installed at Two Rivers in May, 2002.

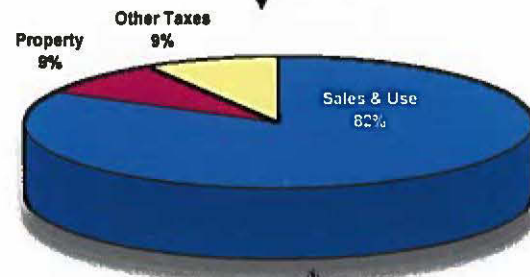

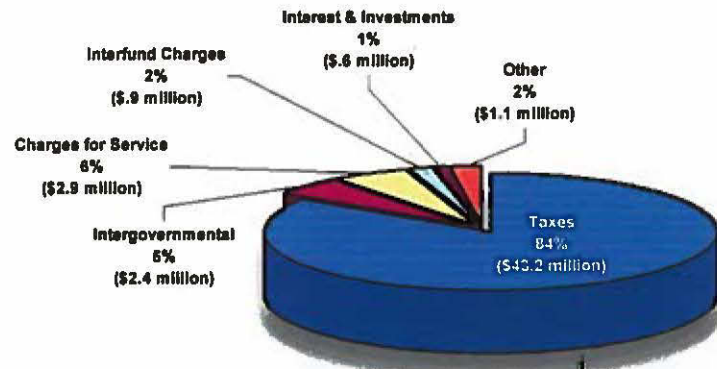

Two Rivers Convention Center is accepting bookings for meetings, weddings, trade shows and special events at the renovated facility. Please contact the sales department at 245-0031.

2002 BUDGET

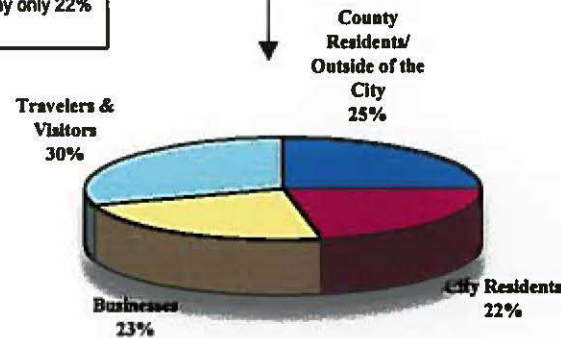

Where the Money Comes From

The main source of revenue the City will use for general government operations in 2002 is generated from taxes. Of the $43.2 million in tax revenue collected, 82% will be in the form of sales and use tax with only 22% of that amount being paid by Grand Junction residents.

Although the total property tax bill on residential property has increased, homeowners are paying LESS Property Tax to the City of Grand Junction today than they were in 1985.

The City of Grand Junction expects to receive approximately $35.7 million in sales and use tax revenue in the year 2002. Because of the City's position as a regional economic center, the citizens of Grand Junction are expected to pay only 22% of this amount, about $7.9 million.

In the 2002-2003 budget, the City is predicting continued growth in sales tax revenues, although at a slower rate than in the previous two-year budget cycle. The sales tax revenue growth for 2001 is expected to reach a 7 1/2 % growth rate, while the City is estimating the sales tax growth rate for 2002 at 6 1/2 %.

The overall economy in Grand Junction remains healthy, with new businesses and residents continuing to choose the high quality of life that Grand Junction offers.

Capital improvements in the City continue to be the largest part of the budget. In 2003, 23% of the budget will go toward improving streets, parks, and infrastructure. Several major projects will get underway in 2002, including several large multi-year projects that will be completed in phases.

The Riverside Corridor

Plans are underway for a new road to connect from Highway 340 through the Riverside area to Noland Avenue and Highway 6 & 50. This road would provide an alternate route from Orchard Mesa to the Redlands Parkway without going through the First and Grand intersection. The road would also reroute traffic away from the residential areas of Riverside and Riverside Park. Engineering work will begin in 2002, with construction starting in 2003.

29 Road

The 29 Road project marks the beginning of one of the largest capital construction programs ever undertaken by the City of Grand Junction and Mesa County. Working together, the City and Mesa County have prepared a plan to create a three to five-lane corridor from Highway 50 on Orchard Mesa over the Colorado River, still heading north over several train tracks and the I-70 business loop, past Patterson Road and intersecting with Interstate 70. The project will be constructed in multiple phases of 12 different projects and will span more than a decade.

Where Your Tax Dollar Goes

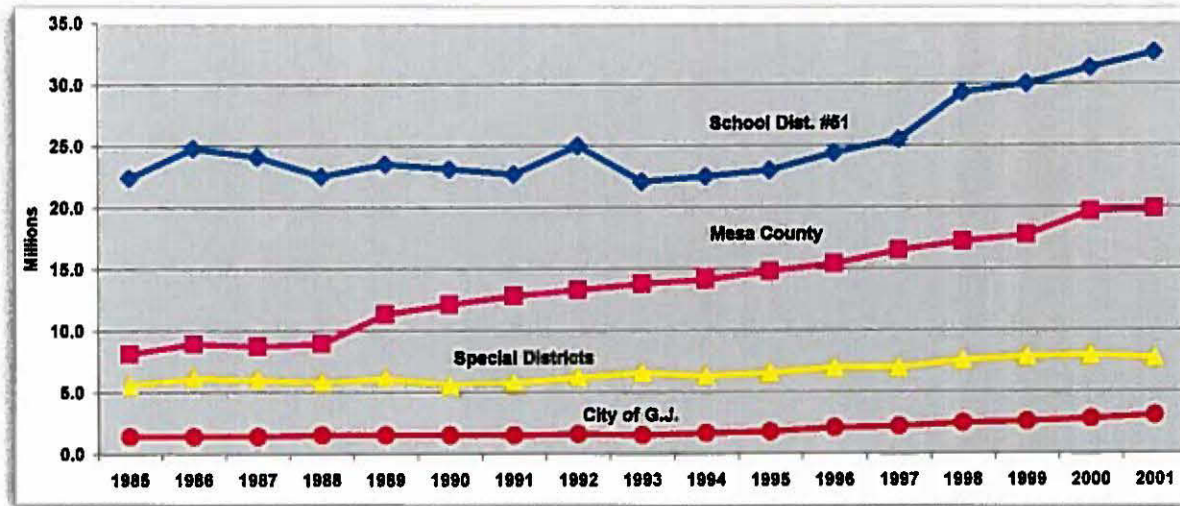

Approximately 28% of the average person's wages (or 17 minutes of every hour) are required to pay taxes of one type or another. The City of Grand Junction receives about FIVE CENTS of every $1 in taxes paid by residents.

Monthly Cost of Service

The average homeowner will pay $561 in annual taxes received by the City, or $47 per month in support of all general government services provided by the City of Grand Junction.

Historical Property Tax Levies (Millions)

The City of Grand Junction receives less than 1/10th of the property tax paid by the homeowners.

Signal Communication

The City will be working jointly with the Colorado Department of Transportation and other city departments to begin installing a fiber optic network to link traffic signals. This will enable us to change the signal light timing to respond to changes in traffic volumes throughout the day. The final result will be the more efficient use of our road network.

The Solid Waste division uses four automated trash trucks to pick up the City's garbage. We used to make 350 pickups per day with a fleet of five trucks and 10 employees. Using automation, we now make 700 pickups with a fleet of four trucks and four employees.

CITY WATER QUALITY

City residents are fortunate to have a pure, fresh source of mountain water. Our water originates from mountain streams at around 11,000 feet high on the Grand Mesa. We are the first users of this supply—there are no industrial, agricultural or urban contaminants present.

DID YOU KNOW...?

- Each year, the City water laboratory performs over 16,000 tests to insure your water is safe to drink and tastes good. The high quality water is better than the standards set by the EPA for drinking water.
- In 1989, the City purchased the Somerville Ranch on the Grand Mesa to acquire additional water rights. We have a consistent source of water that should meet all our needs well into the middle of this century.

FIRE SERVICES

The Grand Junction Fire Department provides fire protection and emergency medical services for the City and the adjoining Grand Junction Rural Fire Protection District. The Fire Department service area covers 93 square miles and includes over 66,000 people. Four fire stations currently serve the area, but recent talks with Mesa County indicate that a fifth station could be added in the future. There are 75 full-time employees and nine reserve firefighters currently on staff.

Our physical isolation in Western Colorado means that significant help in a large emergency incident would be four hours drive away in Denver or Salt Lake City. Therefore, our Fire Department develops and trains firefighters in such diverse roles as confined space rescue, hazardous materials handling, technical rescue and fire investigations. Our firefighters are highly trained to handle many types of emergencies in addition to fighting fires.

The Fire Department also provides public education on fire safety programs for children and adults. Each year they reach over 8,000 children with programs in schools and at the annual Safety Fair. Last year the Department received the Leland Gayheart Award for a smoke detection program that saw over 1,000 smoke detectors installed in residences on the Western Slope. The program was a joint effort with the local chapter of the American Red Cross and is recognized as a model for other communities to follow.

FALL LEAF PICK-UP

Trees are turning gold and leaves are falling throughout this month and next. City residents may rake those leaves into the street starting in mid-October, and City crews will vacuum them from the roadway and bring them to the new composting site at the Mesa County Landfill. Those leaves will eventually be turned into commercial compost. The Fall Leaf Pick Up program keeps those leaves out of the landfill. You may also bag the leaves and put them on the curb for pick up.

POLICE SERVICES

Police Chief Greg Morrison joined the department in September of 2001, bringing with him the goals to expand the department's community policing and problem solving policing philosophy.

According to Chief Morrison, "Maintaining quality of life in the community, while continuing to respect individual liberties and personal dignity, will be the benchmark used to gauge our success in the delivery of law enforcement services. Remaining mindful of the people's will and continuing to be responsive to the community's needs will be the standards that our performance is measured against."

"The abatement of criminal activity as it affects quality of life is our mission," according to Chief Morrison. "The delivery of timely, courteous, quality service is our mandate to the men and women of the Grand Junction Police Department, always without the use of unnecessary force, and always with the intent to solve the problems that people call us for assistance with."
