City Manager Moore reported that slowness in delivery of steel materials has held up progress on the terminal building at the airport for about three weeks and has also contributed to delay in the stadium construction. Steel for both jobs is now either on the way or on the job, so more progress can be made immediately. Work on the new City Hall has been slowed up due to lack of plans, but are working overtime to get out details.

He also stated that the Upper Colorado River Commission accepted the City Council's offer for free use of office space in the new City Hall and by unanimous vote picked Grand Junction as the permanent headquarters for their Commission.

President Hoisington appointed Councilman Carson to the committee for securing the D.R.G. diesel shops in Grand Junction.

It was moved by Councilman Martin and seconded by Councilman Carson that the meeting adjourn, until August 18th at 4 o'clock P.M.
