ARCHITECTURAL DESCRIPTION: One and a half story with intersecting cross gables. Concrete block foundation. Concrete steps, with wood railings and turned balustrades, lead up to two tier porch in center half of facade. It is half integral, half projecting. Three large squared columns across first floor porch facade. Second floor of porch has a hip roof, and is enclosed with siding. The two windows on porch facade, and one on each end, are double hung wood sash, three over one. Front door is paneled with a large light and a transom. Open, shed roof porch on south elevation. Windows around house are mainly double hung wood sash, one-over-one. On facade are two transom windows with leaded glass in the transoms. South and north elevations have a ribbon of windows on second floor with a Palladian window. Buff lapped wood siding. Windows and door surrounds, porch top rails and newel posts, piers under porch and water table are gray. Brown composition shingle roof with boxed eaves. Return cornices on facade. The roof of each elevation has a full width gable. Facade gable face has buff fishscale shingles and a sunburst in gray and burgundy. Circular, wood louvered ventilator on south and north gable apexes. Brick chimney on west slope.

Lawn has low picket fence on north and south edges. Cedars along north elevation. Backyard has wood fence between piers of used brick. Two locust trees in parking area.

One car garage at rear, now utilized for other purposes, with side gable, brown composition shingle roof, buff board and batten siding and brick chimney on west slope.
