RE:Board Position on Commission of Arts and Culture

Dear Grand Junction City Council,

I am a motivated professional with a strong arts background and extensive experience as a photographer. When I learned about the openings on the Arts and Culture Commission, I jumped at the chance to apply and share my interest. I believe that my professional background and strong independent drive make me an ideal candidate for this opportunity.

Having nearly 20 years of professional experience within the Arts, I have developed a strong appreciation and understanding of aesthetics as well as business management. Running my own business has made me proficient in content creation, targeted advertising, social media, as well as customer research.

My success in the Arts have come with some notable achievements and accolades such as:

- Two Emmy-winning documentaries.
- A personal Emmy nomination.
- International distribution of photographs.
- Strong ties to both national and international businesses.

In addition to my professional experience, I spent my most formative years in the most artistic and culturally diverse city in the world. New York City provided me my formal education in how the rest of the world operates. The vast variety of museums and cultural events opened my eyes to the bigger world. My experiences in the city gave me the courage to explore countries in South America, Africa, Europe, and Asia. I have not lived a long life, but I have had many great experiences I can use to help broaden the expertise of this board.

As a member of the board, I can succeed at working independently. However, I also cherish the projects that involve mutual collaboration. I think this board will be a great opportunity for me to share my experiences and creativity as well as give back to my cherished community.

I look forward to discussing the possibilities.

Sincerely,

Matt Janson
